Forget what happened long ago! Don't think about the past. I am creating something new. There it is! Do you see it? I have put roads in deserts, streams in thirsty lands. Every wild animal honors me, even jackals and owls. I provide water in deserts and streams in thirsty lands for my chosen people. I made them my own nation, so they would praise me.

- Isaiah 43:18-21 (Contemporary English Version)

As most of you already know, Sarah, the kids, and I finished the year on a wonderful trip to Disney World with Sarah's family. Besides spending a large amount of quality time with her extended family (Sarah would say it was a small amount), we also were able to enjoy the rides, the shows, and the food that makes Disney the incredible experience that it is. This trip also has some very exciting personal elements that will be etched in our minds for years to come. It is the kind of stuff that family legends are made from. First, another family walked off with our stroller by accident and took it home with them to Cedar Rapids, Iowa. (It's pretty sad when your stroller is more 'well traveled' than you are.) Fortunately, we will be getting it and our bags back. And secondly, when you combine the excitement of Disney with some sugar and mix vigorously inside a five-year-old boy, the result is pure energy. And the five-year-old boy will have a very difficult time standing still. This is the state in which Donny spent most of his trip. In fact, the official motto of our Disney vacation, as selected by Sarah's family, was, "Where's Donny?" because we seemed to be looking for him all the time. It's pretty amazing that he never actually got lost with all the running, bouncing, jumping, and moving that he was doing. If we ever need to develop a renewable energy source to help with the church's utility bills, I have one that lives with me. He's amazing.

While the kids were busy being kids and adults were busy being Grumpy (he's the sixth dwarf in case you wondered), I was able to spend some time reflecting on the theology of Disney. (I know that sounds a bit dull, but it's what we pastors do when we are out and about.) In their shows and attractions, Disney spends a lot of time talking about the power of dreams and imagination. I believe that this is a very good thing. We don't do enough of that in church or in mainstream society. However, Disney doesn't do a good job of connecting imagination or dreams to their ultimate source, God, which leaves me feeling like they are peddling an empty promise. For example, during the big fireworks display on New Year's Eve, right before the grand finale, they played the song Let There Be Peace on Earth (and Let It Begin with Me). It was such a beautiful vision that it almost brought me to tears. Unfortunately, without God at the center of that vision, I don't believe that peace is possible. We are just not capable of it. (Even with God at the center, it has still been a big challenge.) Disney invites us to seek the good in life without the connection to Jesus who makes it all possible. Corruptible humanity cannot do this on its own. We need Jesus!

So, my friends, keep on dreaming. Keep on dreaming of a world that is Christ centered and Kingdom filled. Keep dreaming of a world of peace and justice and love and hope and joy and, through those dreams and your imagination, God can change the world through us.

Blessings and Peace to you all and a Happy 2010,

Pastor Tom

KIDS' KORNER

The excitement of Christmas and the New Year has passed, but there is a lot to look forward to in Sunday School and our God's Little Angels project coming up.

PreK/K and Grades 1 thru 3 will be working on some exciting new travels through the Bible. Please come and join us.

Grades 4 thru 8 will be starting a new Grapple Unit on the Bible – Fact or Fiction? They will be studying Hebrews 4:12 – Did God Really Write the Bible? (All scripture is inspired by God.) How Do I Know if the Bible is True? (The Bible is alive and powerful.) How Is the Bible Different from Other Books? (The Bible is a message from God.) Why Should the Bible Matter to Me? (The Bible is a map to guide your life.)

Grades 9 thru 12 are beginning an interesting set of new materials called “Guy Talk, Girl Talk” focusing on key questions that girls and guys face, looking at issues from each of their perspectives such as making wise decisions, emotions, expectations, and family. Remember that high school graduates are also welcome to attend class – the more youth and young folks that attend, the more dynamic our discussions will be!

GOD'S LITTLE ANGELS

Come join us on Sunday, February 7 at 2:00 p.m. – we'll meet at the church and leave for the Masonic Home at 2:30 p.m. to sing and deliver Valentines. Look for more details in the worship bulletins in the next few weeks and in the February Messenger.
